

Here's Your Chance

Summer Institute of Theology, August 2-6, 2021
Free Lutheran Bible College and Seminary

"I wish I would have known about Bible School."

"If I could do what my kids have done..."

"Do you ever have anything for adults?"

"Will you ever do anything online?"

I hear this kind of comment all the time. I heard it at graduation weekend. I heard it on road trips to Brainerd/Baxter, MN, and in a week of teaching in Beulah, ND. Here's your chance.

Our Summer Institute of Theology is a highlight every year. This year we have a couple of VERY big outside speakers. One way to get impressive guest teachers is to limit the number of days on campus. We were able to invite Dr. Bryan Chapell (Christ-centered Preaching) and Dr. Zac Hicks (Christ-centered Worship) because they are both coming for half of the week.

So here is your opportunity: If you can't come for the whole week, commit to the second half of the week. You can do this, and you won't regret what you learn and the people you meet.

One class: Christ-centered Worship, with Dr. Zac Hicks, will teach students how to plan and lead worship with varied instruments and styles, but consistent, steady content. Ethics and the Follower of Christ, with our newest faculty member Dr. Nathan Olson, will answer the question "How do we live?" And Pastor Gary Jorgenson will lead a GREAT study in 1 & 2 Peter, a study our congregation has enjoyed this spring.

Three days: The second session of classes begins after lunch on Wednesday and concludes before dinner on Friday. You could sleep in your own bed on Friday night, return home Saturday morning, or enjoy the weekend in Minneapolis.

150 dollars: Meals are separate, and you can find a hotel nearby (on-campus housing is for full-week guests only). We'll even throw in a Wednesday night BBQ for free.

Return home recharged: You will love what you learn, and those with whom you learned. You will take home a renewed focus on Christ-centered worship, a better understanding of Christian ethics, or a full fall of Bible Study prepared and ready to go. You'll come back for the full week in a year— and bring friends.
